

An architectural rendering of Mississauga Celebration Square. The scene shows a large, open green lawn in the center, surrounded by modern buildings. On the left is a large, multi-story building with a green roof and a glass-enclosed section. In the background, several tall, modern skyscrapers rise against a blue sky with light clouds. To the right, a long, low building with a green roof and a prominent clock tower is visible. The square is populated with diverse people of various ages, including children playing on the grass, adults sitting on benches, and a person in a wheelchair. A paved walkway with a series of steps runs along the right side, bordered by a dark metal pergola structure. The overall atmosphere is vibrant and community-oriented.
