

Favourite NYRB Classics

Anglo-Saxon Attitudes
Angus Wilson
978-1-59017-142-4
TR | $21.00

A comic novel about one eccentric British family, an historical hoax, and trying to come to terms with the past.

Chess Story
Stefan Zweig
978-1-59017-169-1
TR | $15.95

A psychological game of chess is played aboard a passenger ship during the Second World War.

Contempt
Alberto Moravia
978-1-59017-122-6
TR | $16.95

This novel about the film industry and a deteriorating marriage was the basis for Godard's film Le Mepris.

The Enchanted April
Elizabeth von Arnim
978-1-59017-225-4
TR | $19.95

The perfect escapist read about four women who rent a castle in Portofino – a month that will change their lives.

The Furies
Janet Hobhouse
978-1-59017-085-4
TR | $21.00

The feminist American dream gone awry in this tale of three generations of women.

In Parenthesis
David Jones
978-1-59017-036-6
TR | $17.50

A moving, experimental prose poem about the horrors of fighting in the trenches of WWI

The Invention of Morel
Adolfo Bioy Casares
978-1-59017-057-1
TR | $16.95

If you want the TV show Lost, you must read this – completely original and fascinating.

Lolly Willowes
Sylvia Townsend Warner
978-0-940322-16-5
TR | $17.95

Spinsters will never be the same again.

Love in a Fallen City
Translated by Eileen Chang and Karen S. Kingsbury
978-1-59017-178-3
TR | $16.95

Moving short stories about life in China and Hong Kong following WWII

Mary Olivier: A Life
May Sinclair
978-0-940322-86-8
TR | $21.00

A modernist masterpiece from an author long and unjustly forgotten

A Meaningful Life
L. J. Davis
978-1-59017-300-8
TR | $17.50

A novel for anyone obsessed with their house or real estate.

Memoirs of Montparnasse
John Glassco
978-1-59017-184-4
TR | $18.95

A Canadian in Paris in the 1920s

Favourite NYRB Classics

Memories of the Future
Sigizmund Krzhizhanovsky; Translated by Joanne Turnbull
978-1-59017-319-0
TR | $18.95
Surreal short stories, mostly dealing with books and writers. Oh yes, and the Eiffel Tower runs away.

A Month in the Country
J.L. Carr
978-0-940322-47-9
TR | $14.95
Just a lovely story about a damaged WWI soldier trying to recover in a small English village.

The Pilgrim Hawk
Glenway Wescott
978-0-940322-56-1
TR | $17.95
Destructive relationships – one for fans of The Great Gatsby or The Good Soldier.

The Post-Office Girl
Stefan Zweig
978-1-59017-262-9
TR | $16.50
A heartbreaking story about the desperation of solitary, single women left after the end of the First World War.

The Queue
Vladimir Sorokin
978-1-59017-274-2
TR | $16.95
Told entirely in dialogue, this cast of hundreds lines up for hours, but for what? Incredibly clever and funny.

Stoner
John Williams
978-1-59017-199-8
TR | $16.95
A wonderful novel about the loneliness at the heart of academia.

The Tenants of Moonbloom
Edward Lewis Wallant
978-1-59017-070-0
TR | $19.95
The tenants in Moonbloom's apartment buildings all have their unique problems in this jazzy novel set in New York City.

The True Deceiver
Tove Jansson; Translated from the Swedish by Thomas Teal
978-1-59017-329-9
TR | $18.95
Deliciously manipulative characters – for fans of Notes on a Scandal.

Troubles
J.G. Farrell
978-1-59017-018-2
TR | $19.95
The last days of the Anglo-Irish aristocracy are comically and grotesquely portrayed in this novel set in 1919 Ireland.

Unforgiving Years
Victor Serge
978-1-59017-247-6
TR | $18.95
A thrilling and powerful novel about Communist spies trying to survive the Second World War in Berlin and Stalingrad.

The Unpossessed
Tess Slesinger
978-1-59017-014-4
TR | $21.00
Left-wing intellectuals hang out in 1930s Greenwich Village.

War and the Iliad
Simone Weil
978-1-59017-145-5
TR | $16.95
Two versions of how Homer's Iliad relates to the horrors of the Second World War.