THE LOVE TOUR

Shaun Majumder is an actor, writer, comedian, and social entrepreneur from the small town of Burlington, Newfoundland and Labrador, Canada.

At the age of 14, Shaun moved with his family to Ontario where he attended Hillside Senior Public School, and then on to Clarkson Secondary School where he played Volleyball and did his first play. It was at Clarkson where he first cut his teeth as a comedian during a talent show in the cafeteria. He bombed so bad, he said he would never do it again. After a year at Dalhousie University where he trained in theatre and tequila shots, Shaun decided to put school aside and dive right in. After his year in Halifax, he moved to downtown Toronto where he continued to train as an actor and started working with The Second City as an Improviser, and Yuk Yuks as a stand-up.

Some of his early credits were working on series in Toronto like CTV's "The City" and John Woo's "Once a Thief." If you are a Canadian millennial reading this, he was also that guy on YTV for years. "Brainwash"? Remember? Or how about Uh Oh!? That crazy game show. He was Slime Master Shaun. Yip, that was him. At the turn of the Millenium, Y2K, Shaun made the move to Los Angeles where he starred in shows like "Cedric The Entertainer Presents" on Fox, The Farrelly Brother's Comedy "Unhitched," NBC's "The Firm," and ABC's critically acclaimed "Detroit 187." He was also Kumar's brother in the first "Harold and Kumar Go to White Castle." Most recently, he's hosted "Race Against the Tide" on CBC and the new sci-fi horror series "From" airing now on EPIX.

Other credits include CTV's "Robson Arms," "Less Than Kind," "The Ladies Man," TNT's "Breed," CBC's "Hatching, Matching and Dispatching," "Republic of Doyle," and in Season 6 of "24," he blew up Los Angeles. Shaun spent 17 years as one of the stars of CBC's "This Hour Has 22 Minutes," leaving the show in 2018.
